Bani Walid university campus plan

Bani Walid, Libya / September 2011 archival presentation

Detail from the original site plan. Design by RMJM.

The oval running track appears to the left of a cluster of long, narrow buildings. A central path links the two areas. The site plan records a proposed layout. RMJM describes sunken courtyards as an influence on the campus design.

Source and project credit

“Misrata University,” GVA Edificaciones, S.A. de C.V. Construction Services Project Profile, Anderson Group presentation, page 103. Jay Zaabri retained the presentation in September 2011. The profile credits RMJM as designer.

Architect’s project description and gallery | RMJM

Contemporary reporting | Architectural Record, October 2008