Jordan / 2010–2011

Crystal City at the Dead Sea

The water-park terraces

At right, a detail of the May 2010 master-plan sheet by maisam architects & engineers. Four aqua-park areas occupy different elevations. The Cuningham drawing (left) is the separate panel titled “Site Section,” page 5, September 9, 2010.

February 22, 2011
Jay and Munir circulated a twelve-page Cuningham study prepared for Omnix and a separate maisam plan. Cuningham’s cross-section shows the descent to the water. The maisam plan sets the leisure areas against survey contours.

February 24, 2011
Jay asked architect Joe Lancor how long an alternative proposal would take. Lancor estimated three weeks for a color site plan, three-dimensional views and a written design rationale. It was an estimate for proposed work.

maisam / Crystal City in the planning portfolio, page 13 (large PDF)
Chapman Taylor / Separately credited concept masterplan and visualizations
Read the historical article and its sources at jayzaabri.com