Cuningham’s daylight study

Detail from “Screening Daylight Studies,” page 8 of the 12-page Crystal City presentation prepared by Cuningham Group Architecture for Omnix Group. The perspective and section sketches examine how a screen could shade the building edge while preserving views.

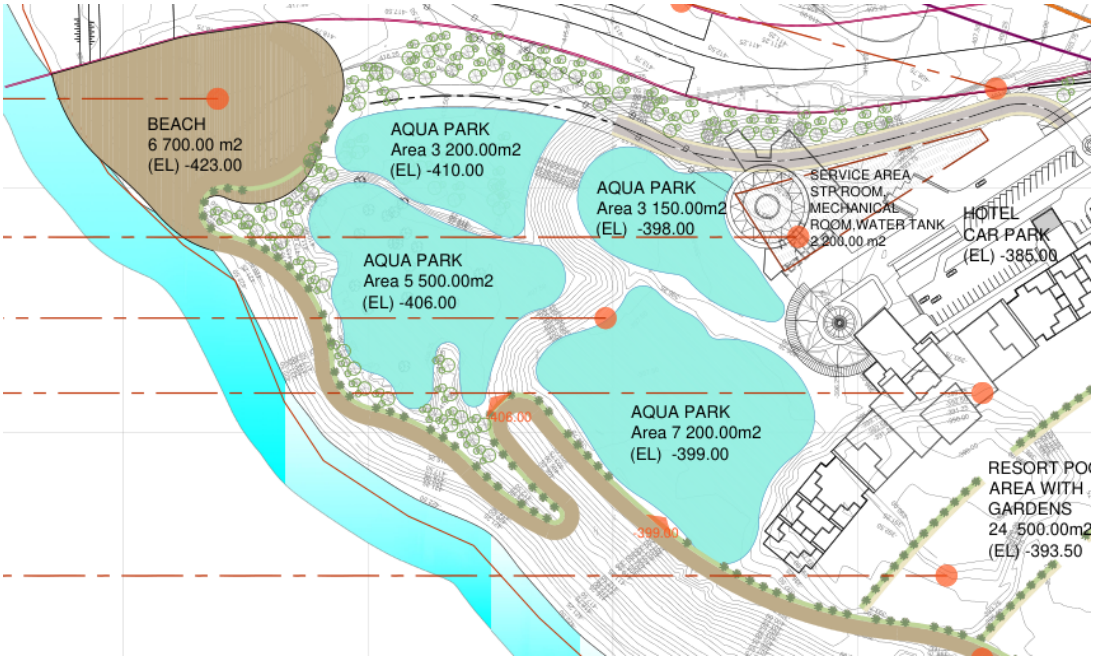

SOURCE ON THE SHEET
